Urgent Appeal from the Colloquium of Six Religious Leaders of Hong Kong for the rapid escalation of confrontation at Hong Kong Polytechnic University

We, the Colloquium of Six Religious Leaders of Hong Kong, issued a joint statement on 13 November 2019, called to stop all kinds of violence and sabotage in the protest. However, the confrontation at Hong Kong Polytechnic University escalate rapidly, we hereby once again make an appeal.

1. All parties should suspend all kinds of force.
2. Protestors who stay in the university, including the injured, should be allowed to leave the campus immediately.
3. Protesters should stop using force, while on-site police force should make reasonable and legal arrangement and let the people leave the campus peacefully.
4. Police force and protesters should attempt to mediate and settle the issue in a peaceful way.

In the heart of benevolence, the Colloquium of Six Religious Leaders are willing to send representatives to mediate and resolve the crisis if necessary.
